

112 57

The image shows a page from a notebook with a grid of graph paper. A vertical red line is drawn on the left side of the grid, creating a margin. The grid consists of small squares. There are some faint, illegible markings scattered across the grid, possibly bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The page number '13' is written in a circle in the top right corner, and the numbers '112 57' are written at the top center.
